

I have placed my name on Indiana's "Do Not Call" list. I did that to minimize interruptions of my personal time. Calls from businesses with "established relationships" are just as much an interruption as those from other entities. My "business partners" are welcome to contact me by mail or e-mail; they are not welcome to make unsolicited calls to my home during my family time. Please do not weaken Indiana's law.